This Font was created by Andrew Paglinawan in 2008. The way he made this was by using geometric shapes as a core foundation in this font. Another thing is that when Andrew Paglinawan was creating this font it was more for the display purposes but he still wanted to keep the font legible enough for any one to use in any size, small or big font sizes as you can see here.

The main reason why I picked this font is because I actually use this quite a bit. There is something about it that I just like, maybe because it gives me the sense of a fancy font but still where I can read everything I write/type on or because of the thin weight it has on the letters which I like a lot.
